HOW TO APPLY

For questions about a specific minor, please contact the Program Director listed under each minor. Minors are available to current Chapman University students only.

To add any of the interdisciplinary studies, fill out the Change of Major/Minor Form for your catalog year on the Chapman University website.

The form can be found under:

www.chapman.edu/registrar/forms

Certain minors require a Department Chair Signature in order to apply; these will be specified with an asterisk (*).

Completed forms can be submitted in person or emailed to registrar@chapman.edu via Panthermail.

Please remember that forms are not processed during the registration periods in November and April of each year.

Interdisciplinary Minor in AFRICANA STUDIES

The Africana Studies minor is designed to examine the histories, cultures, societies, literatures, and arts of people of African descent and their contributions to world civilization. The curriculum takes a transnational approach to the study of the Black experience and places it in a comparative context of Africa and the African Diaspora. The goal of the interdisciplinary curriculum is to provide a personalized education of distinction through a range of core and elective courses that allow students to determine areas of emphasis.

Interdisciplinary Minor in DISABILITY STUDIES

The Disability Studies Minor provides an overview of the interdisciplinary study of disability across the domains of human experience. It allows students to explore the variety of approaches to understanding disability in personal, social, economic, artistic, and political contexts. The minor focuses on issues in the representation, history, and interpretation of disability as a social category of human difference rather than issues related to the clinical diagnosis and treatment of impairments.

Interdisciplinary Minor in ETHNIC STUDIES

The Ethnic Studies Minor is the interdisciplinary study of race, ethnicity, and indigeneity, with a focus on the histories, cultures, perspectives, and community work of marginalized racial and ethnic groups in the United States. The curriculum takes a theoretical, historical, and experiential approach to examine modern (in)justice, social movements, legal and public policy activism, antiracist and anti-patriarchal ontologies, liberationist epistemologies, and community and identity formation in American history. Students will learn about multiple cultures' social and historical context within the United States. Academic and experiential learning are interwoven such that key themes, concepts, and ideas in the field of Ethnic Studies are applied intentionally with communities.

Interdisciplinary Minor in HEALTH HUMANITIES

Health Humanities explores the human condition of health from a variety of critical and creative perspectives. Health Humanities students are prepared for careers throughout the healthcare industry as well as in policy, administration, education, arts, and advocacy where health and health policy play a role. Each student has the opportunity to chart a path through the minor coursework that supports their intellectual curiosity, professional goals, and personal wellbeing.

Core courses are grounded in the humanities, whereas electives draw not only from the humanities but also from the arts, social sciences, and natural sciences so that the Health Humanities minor complements any undergraduate major and ensures that students build a complex understanding of what it means to be well in physical, mental, social, and cultural contexts.

Interdisciplinary Minor in LAW & THE LIBERAL ARTS

Law and the Liberal Arts is an interdisciplinary minor that studies the role of law in society and politics. The goal of the minor is to prepare students to think critically and analytically about the role of law in our lives, using the tools of a well-rounded education in the liberal arts. It also teaches core competencies that help prepare for law school admissions. The minor has two tracks of elective courses, which bring together courses from across the curriculum. These tracks are organized around themes: (1) Justice, Morality, and the Law; (2) Global Justice and International Law.

Interdisciplinary Minor in LGBTQ STUDIES

Sexual and gender diversity issues have become highly visible issues across business, the humanities, and the sciences. The Minor in Lesbian/Gay/Bisexual/Transgender/Queer Studies offers students the opportunity to analyze for themselves facts, theories, research, and realities concerning diverse lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer people as well as communities, histories, and the ways in which race, class, and other dimensions of identity and experience impact LGBTQ people, histories, and politics. Representing Chapman University's commitment to diversity and intellectual inquiry, the minor provides students of any major the means to explore the issues surrounding this academic discipline in its scientific, socio-cultural, political, and artistic contexts. In addition to supplementing academic specializations ranging from history or biology to English or psychology, the minor can also serve students preparing for careers in law, public policy, health and social services, the arts, entertainment, or the ministry.
