

CHAPMAN
UNIVERSITY

---

MEMORANDUM

DATE: September 21, 2006
TO: Chapman Community
FROM: Human Resources Department
SUBJECT: Tuition Discount Benefit - Impacted Programs

---

In accordance with the Chapman University Tuition Discount Benefit, certain graduate programs which are “impacted or limited in size”, are not eligible for the granting of tuition discount.

Senior Staff has previously determined that the following programs will not be eligible for full tuition discount and has added the PhD program in Education for the Fall of 2007.

- Juris Doctor
- LL.M in Taxation
- Doctor of Physical Therapy
- MFA in Film Production
- Master of Art in Educational Psychology
- PhD in Education

Consistent with the terms of the benefit plan, employees and dependents who apply for and are accepted into programs after the programs are deemed to be discount-ineligible will receive a 30% tuition discount for enrollment in these programs. Once an employee or dependent is admitted with full tuition discount to an academic program which later becomes limited, he/she may continue in the program through completion with full tuition discount, as long as all other eligibility criteria and conditions described in the benefit plan, Tuition Discount Benefits, are met.

Please contact Human Resources if you have any questions.
