Conversation with Dolores Huerta Monday, October 22, 2018

Quotes from her visit:

"sometimes you need to make waves"

"my kids did not have play dates, they had picket dates"

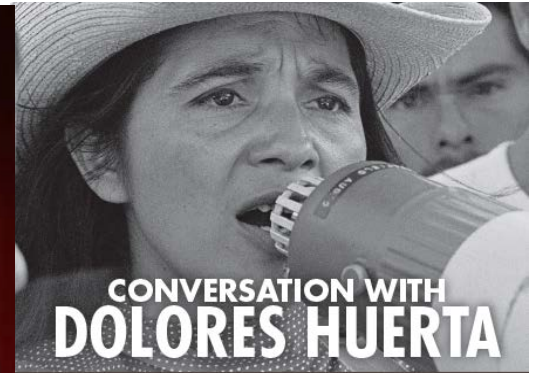

"know you can make a difference"

"election day is the most important day of our life"

"we did not cross the border, the border crossed us"

"whose got the power?" we have the power! "what kind of power?" People power!

"si se puede!"

Monday, October 22 | Memorial Hall | 7 p.m.

Noche de Altares/Dia de Los Muertos: Thursday, November 1, 2018

Students celebrate Dia de los Muertos away from home

11/04/2018 • by Hayley Nelson

Students set up altars with various offerings, or "ofrendas," to celebrate Dia de los Muertos, which honors family members and loved ones who have died. Photos by Melissa

The Attallah Piazza was decorated with bright tablecloths, candles and snacks ranging from sugar skulls to Cheetos. A mariachi band, dressed in traditional garb, played music as students gathered to celebrate Dia de los Muertos.

Anna Vargas, a sophomore screenwriting major, wouldn't have celebrated the holiday without the event Chapman held on Thursday, Noche de Altares, which was held by MEChA de Chapman in collaboration with the Latinx Staff and Faculty Forum and Chapman's Latinx and Latin American Studies Department.

In the past, her parents occasionally lit a candle to celebrate the holiday, she said, but this year she participated by creating an altar in the Piazza.

"I think bringing in different cultures and having events that help people understand other people is good exposure," said Vargas, "It's also important in my culture."

Immigration Policies in 2018--Updates by attorney Lisa Ramirez

Lisa Ramirez, renowned immigration attorney and community advocate.

She will lead a discussion and provide a general update on immigration enforcement policies locally and federally and on the status of DACA as it nears its day at the supreme court. Lastly, Lisa will provide a basic know-your-rights campus version – with the aim of protecting members of the Chapman community.

Undocumented Student Issues Forum

Friday, November 16, 2018

Highlights/Take Aways:

3 Reasons an Immigration Office (ICE Agent) may visit work place

- To conduct an I-9 investigation and serve a Notice of Inspection
- Arrest or search warrant
- Conducting work place raid investigating an employer
- FYI: It is not aiding and abetting (federal crime) to simply notify the community ice is on campus.

Be prepared if ICE Agents Visit Campus

- Be alert
 - Keep an eye out for gov vehicles (marked and unmarked) and officers
- Be proactive
 - Approach them as soon as possible for the safety of students
 - Inquire about their visit and do not provide any information or location of any student/employee
- Be prepared
 - Have handy Campus Safety/HR numbers
 - Find a location for them to wait and stay with them

UndocuAlly Training

- Free Training for faculty and staff
- Based on material from UCI
- Spring 2019 TBD
- Partnership with Cross Cultural Center and Forum for Undocumented Students
