

FELLOWSHIPS DATA AND DEADLINES

Boren Awards

Boren Graduate Fellowship

Purpose: Boren Fellowships, named for David L. Boren and funded by the National Security Education Program (NSEP), support students pursuing the study of languages, cultures, and world regions that are critical to U.S. interests (including Africa, Asia, Central & Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin America & the Caribbean, and the Middle East). Study in the United States, Western Europe, Canada, Australia, or New Zealand is not permitted. The program promotes ethnic, racial and gender diversity and gives special consideration to students from science, engineering, and business.

Requirements: A U.S. citizen; enrolled in or admitted to a graduate degree program at an accredited U.S. university in the United States; demonstrated academic excellence and potential to succeed in the proposed program, commitment to international education to fulfill academic and career goals; language interest and aptitude; a comprehensive and feasible proposal; a clear plan and demonstrated commitment to develop, maintain, or advance language competence; evidence of ability to adapt to a different cultural environment; a cogent explanation of the relevance of the proposed study to U.S. national security; a commitment to federal service; and accepts the service requirement.

Since the program encourages students to study in countries whose languages are less commonly taught at U.S. institutions, it is anticipated that many students may not be familiar with the language of their chosen country. Prior study of another language will serve as an indication of interest and aptitude.

Note: Study of a common language (Spanish or French) is permissible only when it is at an advanced level of competency or combined with the study of applied science or engineering. At the time of application, determination of language level will be self-assessed. The self-assessed competency level of grant recipients will be verified through a commonly used testing instrument.

Award: Provides support for overseas or domestic study or both. The maximum award for overseas study is $12,000 per semester for up to two academic years. A maximum of $12,000 is available for a program of domestic study only. The maximum level of support for a combined overseas and domestic program is $30,000.

Service Requirement: An award recipient must work in the Federal Government in a position with national security responsibilities for a one year or the duration of assistance provided.

Number of Awards: Unknown

Deadline: Late January

Boren Undergraduate Scholarships

Purpose: The Boren Scholarships, funded by the National Security Education Program (NSEP), offer unique opportunities for U.S. undergraduates to study abroad in world regions critical to U.S. interests (including Africa, Asia, Eastern Europe, Eurasia, Latin American & the Caribbean, and the Middle East). The countries of Western Europe, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand are excluded. Boren Scholars study less commonly taught languages, including but not limited to Arabic, Chinese, Korean, Portuguese, Russian, and Swahili.

Requirements: GED, and matriculated as freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior in a U.S. post-secondary institution accredited by a accrediting body recognized by the U.S. Department of Education; must apply to a study abroad experience that meets home institution standards and is completed before you graduate; study a foreign language appropriate to the identified country; and accept the service requirement.

Service Requirement: An award recipient must work in the Federal Government in a position with national security responsibilities for a one year or the duration of assistance provided. The Departments of Defense, Homeland Security, State, or the Intelligence Community are the priority agencies. If, after making a full and good faith effort (according to conditions and rules established by NSEP), an award recipient demonstrates to NSEP that no appropriate position is available in one of these agencies, he or she may work in any U.S. federal department or agency with national security responsibilities.

Since the program encourages students to study in countries whose languages are less commonly taught at U.S. institutions, it is anticipated that many students will not be familiar with the language of their chosen country. Prior study of another language will serve as an indication of interest and aptitude.

Note: Study of a common language (Spanish or French) is permissible only when it is at an advanced level of competency. In such cases, the study abroad experience should not focus on language acquisition, but rather on academic course work. Special Exception: NSEP will consider applications from students at the intermediate level of Spanish or French if their field of study is in applied sciences or engineering. At the time of application, determination of intermediate/advanced language level will be self-assessed. Self-assessed competency level of grant recipients will be verified through a commonly used testing instrument.

Award: Provides $10,000 for one semester for $20,000 for a full academic year.

Number of Awards: Unknown

Deadline: Early February

Website: www.borenawards.org

Carnegie Junior Fellows Program

Requirements: Be a graduating senior or have completed a bachelor's degree within the past academic year and interested in a career in international affairs. Applicants can NOT have started graduate studies. Applicants must be nominated and an institution may nominate only two students annually. Applicants must be of high academic quality and should have completed a significant amount of coursework in international affairs, political science, economics, history or Russian or Chinese students.

Purpose: Provide an opportunity for recipients to have a substantive one-year working experience with the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, a private, nonprofit organization dedicated to advancing cooperation between nations and promoting active international engagement by the United States. It is one of the world's leading think tanks specializing in international affairs.

Award: 8-10 applicants will be selected for a paid, full-time position for one year; currently Junior Fellows receive a gross salary of $35,000 per year plus benefits. Recipients will have the opportunity to assist Associates working on such projects as non-proliferation, democracy building, U.S. leadership, trade and environment, Chinese or Russian affairs/issues, conduct research for books and other publications. They will also participate in meetings with high level officials, contribute to congressional testimony, and organize briefings, etc.

Award Period: One full calendar year

Deadline: Normally mid-January

Website: <http://www.carnegieendowment.org>

Critical Language Scholarships for Intensive Summer Institutes

Requirements: Undergraduates, graduating seniors, recent graduates, MA, and Ph.D. students in all disciplines, including business, engineering, science, the social sciences, and humanities. Undergraduates must have completed at least one year of coursework by program start date. Must be US citizens.

Purpose: Increase the number of Americans studying and mastering critical need foreign languages (currently includes Arabic, Azerbaijani, Bangla/Bengali, Chinese, Hindi, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, Persian, Punjabi, Russian, Turkish, and Urdu. Beginning, Intermediate, and Advanced are offered for most languages.

Award: All program costs are covered, including travel between the student's home city, Washington, DC, and program location (eg., China, Egypt, Tunisia, Bangladesh, India, etc., depending on language studied), room, board, travel within country, and all entrance fees for program activities. University level credit may be available.

Award Period: 7 – 10 weeks

Deadline: Normally mid-December.

Website: <http://www.elscholarship.org/home.php>

DAAD Scholarships (to study or complete research in Germany)

Purpose: This independent association (the German Academic Exchange Service) offers a wide range of highly selective scholarships, grants and fellowships in Germany – from undergraduates to post-doctoral students.

Requirements: for most awards, must submit a résumé, a proposal, two letters of recommendations, transcripts, etc.

For all requirements, award information, and deadlines, review the website. Typically, award winners receive a generous stipend for board and room, round trip tickets, health and liability insurance. Language proficiency varies with award, from none to level needed for study or proposal.

Website: <http://www.daad.org/>

Fulbright Grants

Requirements: Be a college senior or recent graduate or a master's student or recent graduate. The award provides opportunities for personal development and international experience in countries throughout the world. Preference is given to those applicants who have resided or studied in the country to which they are applying for no more than six months. Applicants must be U.S. citizens.

Purpose: Promote cross-cultural interaction and mutual understanding.

Full Award: Round trip transportation to and from host country, living expenses, book and research allowances, insurance, and full or partial tuition in most cases; and language and orientation programs in some cases. These awards are for study and/or research abroad for academic year, including the creative arts. A proposal project is a requirement for all applicants

English Teaching Assistantships: Is available in over 50 countries; proficiency in the host county language varies. Recipients are placed in schools of universities outside of capital cities in the host country. The assistantships offer similar award benefits as the full award (see above).

Number of Awards: Varies with the host country.

Deadline: Normally October 20

Websites: <http://www.iie.org/fulbright/us/> or www.us.fulbrightonline.org

Gates Cambridge Scholarships*

Requirements: Applicants must possess highest academic qualification and excellent potential for graduate work (minimum of 3.7 GPA in major); leadership capacity; awareness of ways in which the benefits of their higher education can be put to service of society at large and desire to use their knowledge by providing service to their communities and apply their talents and to improve the lives of others; normally be under the age of 30. Must be admitted to Cambridge University through the University's normal academic procedures.

Purpose: Supports scholars from every country, other than the United Kingdom, who are committed to serving their communities and who gain admission to the University of Cambridge to pursue courses of study as follows: second Bachelor degree as an affiliated student (two year program); one-year postgraduate courses; or research leading to the degree of Ph.D. Hopes to create a network of future leaders; anticipated that the Gates Cambridge Scholars will become leaders in addressing global problems related to health, equity, technology, and learning.

Award: Annual value is in excess of $30,000 and may be renewed for four years for students wishing to obtain a Ph.D.

Number of Awards: Normally 150 with 40-50 from the US.

Deadline: Mid-October

Website: www.gates.scholarships.cam.ac.uk/

Gilman International Scholarship Program (modest awards for undergraduates to study abroad)

Requirements: Be an undergraduate attending Chapman on a Pell Grant (high financial need); participating in a study abroad program for which Chapman University will grant credit.

Purpose: Offers grants to undergraduates of limited financial needs, seeking to diversify and expand the numbers of US students studying abroad. Encourages participation in a critical language program as part of study abroad but it is not a requirement.

Award Data: Up to $5,000 for one semester; the average award is $4,000 Awards are offered for both fall and spring semesters for varying periods.

Number of Awards: Normally 600 students receive awards each semester.

Deadlines: For the Fall Semester, the application deadline is early April of the year prior to award year. For the Spring Semester, the deadline is early October of the award year.

Website: www.iie.org/programs/gilman

Barry M. Goldwater Scholarships

Requirements: Be a college sophomore or college junior (at the time of application) with outstanding potential and intend to pursue a career in mathematics, natural sciences or engineering; a high GPA is required for consideration.

Purpose: To increase the number of highly qualified scientists, mathematicians, and engineers.

Award: Up to maximum of $7,500 per annually for undergraduate tuition, fees, book, and room and board. Sophomore recipients are eligible for maximum of two years of scholarship support and junior recipients for a maximum of one year of support.

Number of Awards: 300 (each school can nominate up to four); number is awarded per state.

Deadline: Normally January 30

Website: www.act/org/goldwater

Jacob W. Javits Fellowships

Requirements: Applicants must be eligible to begin their graduate program in the fall following the date of the application submission OR not have completed their first full year of study. The program must be for a doctoral degree or a master's degree in those fields in which the master's degree is the terminal highest degree award in the arts, humanities, and social sciences. Additional requirements are: be eligible to receive a grant, loan, or work assistance under the Higher Education Act; intent to pursue a doctoral or master's degree in an approved field; and be a citizen, national, or permanent resident of the U.S. A GRE score must be included in the application packet.

Purpose: Award fellowships to eligible students of superior academic ability, exceptional promise, and demonstrated financial need to undertake graduate study leading to a doctoral or master's degree (in which it is the highest terminal degree) in fields as specified above.

Award: Averages $41,511 for a project period of up to 48 months.

Number of Awards: 71 approximately

Deadline: Early September/ Early October

Website: <http://www.ed.gov/programs/jacobjavits/index.html>

James Madison Graduate Fellowships

Requirements: Be a U.S. Citizen; plan to become a teacher of American History, American government or social studies; have a B.A. degree or will receive BA by August 31 of year in which applying. Must pursue a master's degree in American history or political science; an MAT concentrating on American history or American government; or a MEd or MA in Education with concentration in American history or American government.

Purpose: To improve teaching about the United States Constitution in secondary schools.

Award: $24,000 maximum for tuition, fees, books, and room and board prorated over the individual period of study (cannot exceed $12,000 per academic year and normally less).

Service Requirement: After earning degree, must teach American history, American government, or social studies in grades 7-12 for a minimum of one year for each full year of study under the fellowship.

Number of Awards: One fellowship is awarded to each state.

Deadline: March 1

Website: <http://jamesmadison.com/>

Marshall Scholarships*

Requirements: Be a citizen of USA; have a minimum GPA of 3.7; hold their first undergraduate degree (by time they take the scholarship) or have graduated from their undergraduate degree after April, 2008 (changes annually – is two years before year of application).

Purpose: To enable intellectually distinguished young Americans, their country's future leaders, to study in the United Kingdom; to help scholars gain an understanding and appreciation of contemporary Britain; to contribute to the advancement of knowledge in science, technology, the humanities and social sciences and the creative arts at Britain's centers of academic excellence; to motivate scholars to act as ambassadors from the USA to the UK and vice versa through their lives thus strengthening British American understand; to promote the personal and academic fulfillment of each scholar.

Award: Annual value is in typically in excess of $30,000 (currently 23,000 English pounds) comprised of a personal allowance, tuition fees, and transportation to and from the US, plus additional claimable allowances of approximately $3,000 (for books, travel, preparation or thesis, etc.) to cover two years of study in any discipline leading to the award of a British university degree.

Number of Awards: Normally 40

Deadline: Normally first week of October

Website: www.marshallscholarship.org

George C. Mitchell Scholarships*

Requirements: Possess a bachelors' degree before study under scholarship; a record of academic excellence and intellectual distinction; an outstanding record of leadership; and a sustained commitment to service and community. Applicants must be a citizen of USA and be 18 years of age or over and not yet 30 on October 1 of year applying.

Purpose: To introduce and connect future American leaders to Ireland, while recognizing and fostering intellectual achievement, leadership, and a commitment to public service and community by funding one year of graduate study in any discipline offered by institutions of higher learning in Ireland and Northern Ireland

Award: Funds one year of study - tuition, housing, a living expenses stipend, an international travel stipend, and transportation costs to and from the Ireland and Northern Ireland.

Number of Awards: 12

Deadline: Normally October 6

Website: www.us-ireland.org/scholarships

National Institutes of Health Undergraduate Scholarship Programs

Requirements: US citizen, national, or qualified noncitizen; enrolled or accepted for enrollment as a full-time student at an accredited, 4 year undergraduate institution; a disadvantaged background – certification by Financial Aid Office as having “exceptional financial need;” and 3.5 GPA or higher or within the top 5 percent of your class. Applicants must also show commitment to careers in biomedical, behavioral, and social sciences

Purpose: Offers competitive scholarships to students from disadvantaged backgrounds who are committed to careers in biomedical, behavioral, and science health-related research.

Award: Offers scholarship support; paid research training at the NIH during the summer; and paid employment and training at the NIH after graduation. Award is up to $20,000 per academic year in tuition, education expenses and reasonable living expenses - exact amount is based on educational expenses and other sources of financial aid.

Award Period: Scholarships are awarded for 5 year and can be renewed for up to 4 years.

Deadline: End of February for the following academic year.

Website: <https://ugsp.nih.gov/home>

National Science Foundation Graduate Research Fellowship

Requirements: US citizens or nationals or permanent resident aliens; college seniors, first year graduate students, and others who have completed a limited amount of graduate study in science, mathematics or engineering. Women, minorities, and persons with disabilities are strongly encouraged to apply.

Purpose: Provides support for full-time graduate study at any accredited U.S. or foreign nation they choose. Program of study must lead to a research-based masters or doctoral degrees in the fields of science, mathematics, technology, and certain social sciences. Ensure the vitality and reinforce the diversity of the human resource base the above fields.

Award: Three years of support for graduate study leading to a research-based master's or doctoral degree in the fields noted above. Stipends are determined annually; currently the award is expected to be $41,500 annually: $30,000 stipend, $10,500 cost of education allowance per award for tuition and fees, and $1,000 travel allowance.

Number of Awards: Approximately 1000

Deadlines: Vary with proposed field of study – range from mid-November to early December.

Website: www.fastlane.nsf.gov/grpf (for application) or <http://www.nsf.gov/>

The Thomas R. Pickering Graduate Foreign Affairs Fellowship

Requirements: US citizens; outstanding academic achievement; must be seeking admission to graduate school for the following academic year; GPA of 3.2 or higher must be maintained through out participation in the program. Applicants must be in academic programs relevant to international affairs, political and economic analysis, administration, and management. Recipients are expected to enroll in a two year fulltime master's degree program in public policy, international affairs, or an academic field relevant to international affairs, such as economics, business, political science, sociology, or foreign languages.

Testing: Recipients must meet Department of State Foreign Service entry requirements.

Purpose: This fellowship program is funded by the United States Department of State (administered by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation) and is designed to recruit talented students in academic programs relevant to international affairs, such as economics, business, political science, sociology, or foreign languages who are interested in pursuing a Foreign Service career. The goal is to attract students from all ethnic, racial, and social background.

Award: Tuition, room, board, and mandatory fees during the first and second year of graduate study, with reimbursement for books and for travel (one round trip per academic year, up to a set maximum amount).

Service Requirement: Each successful candidate is obligated to a minimum of three years of service as a Foreign Service Officer.

Number of Awards: Unknown

Deadline: Normally end of the first week of February.

Website: http://www.woodrow.org/fellowships/foreign_affairs/pickering_grad/index.php

The Thomas R. Pickering Undergraduate Foreign Affairs Fellowship

Requirements: US citizens; college sophomores; outstanding academic achievement; GPA of 3.2 or higher must be maintained through out participation in the program; majoring in programs relevant to international affairs, political and economic analysis, administration, and management. Applicants must also possess outstanding leadership skills and demonstrate financial need. Recipients must commit to pursuing a graduate degree in international studies at one of the graduate schools participating in the program.

Testing: Recipients must meet Department of State Foreign Service entry requirements.

Purpose: This fellowship program is funded by the United States Department of State (administered by the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation) and is designed to recruit talented students who are interested in pursuing a Foreign Service career. The goal is to attract students from all ethnic, racial, and social background.

Award: Tuition, room, board, and mandatory fees during the junior and senior years of college and the first year of graduate study, with reimbursement for books and for travel (one round trip per academic year, up to a set maximum amount). Participating graduate schools provide financial support in the second year of graduate study based on need.

Service Requirement each successful candidate is obligated to a minimum of four-and-one-half year's service as a Foreign Service Officer.

Number of Awards: Unknown

Deadline: Normally end of the first week of February.

Website: http://www.woodrow.org/fellowships/foreign_affairs/pickering_undergrad/index.php

Presidential Management Fellowships

Requirements: Graduate student who is in final year of an advanced degree (master's law, or doctoral-level degree) in the all degree programs; must complete the degree by August 31 of the year in which apply. The following fields are recommended: Accounting, Finance, Business, and Economics; Information Technology, Environmental Science, Engineering, Math and Statistics; Public Policy, Administration, International Affairs; Law; Health and Medical Science; and Human Resources. Must be nominated by the degree granting institution. Criteria for selection include: breadth and quality of accomplishments; capacity for leadership; commitment to excellence in the leadership and management of public policies and programs; analytical problem solving; written communication and selected Office of Personnel Management competencies. Rating/ranking of finalists will include any applicable Veterans' Preference.

Purpose: Attract to the Federal Civil Service outstanding men and women from a variety of academic disciplines and career paths who have a clear interest in, and commitment to, excellence in the leadership and management of public policies and programs.

Award: Provides two-year Federal Government Fellowships to individuals. The Fellowships are paid (with full benefits), full-time positions with accelerated promotion potential. There is also the potential for participation in the Federal Student Loan Repayment Program. It is also provides non-competitive appointment to a full-time permanent position upon successful completion of the program.

Number of Awards: Unknown although number seems to be relatively small

Deadlines: Typically mid-October

Website: <http://www.pmf.opm.gov>

The Rhodes Scholarship*

Requirements: A citizen of USA; a graduating senior or alumni 18 years but not yet 24 years of age by October 1 of year applying; and achieved academic standing sufficiently advanced to assure completion of a bachelor's degree before October 1 of year of award. Applicants must also have achieved extraordinary intellectual distinction, and their undergraduate program must provide a sufficient basis for further study in the proposed field. In addition, candidates should possess excellence in qualities of mind and of person which offer the promise of effective service to the world in the decades ahead.

Purpose: The Rhodes Scholarships were established in 1903 by Cecil Rhodes, who dreamed of improving the world through the diffusion of leaders motivated to serve their contemporaries, trained in the contemplative life of the mind, and broadened by their acquaintance with one another and by their exposure to cultures different from their own. Mr. Rhodes hoped that his plan of bringing able students from throughout the English-speaking world and beyond to study at Oxford University would aid in the promotion of international understanding and peace. Each year, 32 U. S. citizens are among the approximately 80 Rhodes Scholars worldwide who take up degree courses at Oxford University.

Award: For two years of study at the University of Oxford with the possibility of renewal for a third year. Provides all educational costs, such as matriculation, tuition, and fees; a maintenance allowance adequate to meet necessary expenses for term-time and vacation; costs of travel to and from Oxford and may approve, upon application, additional grants for research purposes or study-related travel.

Number of Awards: 32 selected from those nominated by selection committees in each of the 50 states.

Deadline: Normally October 6

Website: www.rhodesscholar.org/

Rotary Ambassadorial Scholarships

Requirements: Must be citizens of a country in which there are Rotary Clubs; have completed at least two years of college-level coursework or equivalent professional experience; cannot be Rotarians or employees of a club or Rotary entity or be spouse or descendant of a member or employee; and possess language proficiency as specified by the proposed host country. Recipients are expected to be outstanding ambassadors of goodwill in their host country and to share the experiences of understanding acquired during their overseas experience in the United States (appearances at Rotary Clubs, schools, civic organizations, and other forums).

Purpose: To further international understanding and friendly relations among people of different countries. The scholarships are to fund study in another country where there is a Rotary Club.

Award: This program provides a flat rate of US $26,000 to defray costs for round trip transportation; tuition and fees; room and board expenses; and some additional educational supplies.

Number of Awards: Approximately 1,100

Deadline: To apply through the Orange Rotary Club the deadline is typically mid-April to May 1 of the year preceding study abroad. Final decisions are made in November and December.

Rotary World Peace Fellowships

Requirements: Hold an earned undergraduate degree from an accredited institution or its international equivalent; have proficiency in a second language (including the language of the proposed host university); possess excellent leadership skills; demonstrate a commitment to peace and international understanding through service, academic or professional achievements; hold citizenship in a country where there is a Rotary Club.

Purpose: Promote greater tolerance and cooperation among peoples, leading to world peace, and understanding and advance research, teaching, publication, and knowledge of issues of peace and goodwill, causes of conflict, and world understanding. Provide advanced education opportunities for individuals committed to peace and conflict resolution in order to advance knowledge and world understanding among potential future leaders. Funds master's level degrees in international studies, sustainable development, peace studies, and conflict resolution at one of the seven Rotary Center university partners; US citizens must attend one of the international centers (in Argentina, Australia, France, Japan, United Kingdom).

Award: Funds one or two academic years plus an applied field experience; includes tuition and fees, a standardized room and board stipend, transportation, contingency expenses and the applied field experience.

Number of Awards: 60-70 annually.

Deadline: For the Orange Rotary Club it is typically late-April to May 1. Normally final decisions are made in November and December of the year preceding study abroad.

Website:

<http://www.rotary.org/en/StudentsAndYouth/EducationalPrograms/AmbassadorialScholarships/Pages/About.aspx>

Harry S. Truman Scholarship Foundation

Requirements: Completed a minimum of two years of academic credit and be a full-time student with junior-level academic standing by application deadline. An extensive record of campus and community service; commitment to a career in government or the nonprofit and advocacy sectors; excellent communication skills and a high probability of becoming a "change agent"; and a strong academic record with likely acceptance by a first-rate graduate school. Priority is given to candidates seeking MPA, JPP, JD, MEd. MIA, MPH, and master's or doctoral degrees in fields in which most graduates go into public service.

Service Requirement: Scholars are required to work in public service for three of the seven years following completion of a Foundation funded graduate degree program as a condition of receiving Truman funds. Scholars who do not meet this service requirement, or who fail to provide timely proof to the Foundation of such employment, will be required to repay funds received along with interest. The Foundation will have an appeals process for special circumstances.

Purpose: To support graduate or professional education for candidates who plan to pursue careers in government or elsewhere in public service. The foundation seeks future "change agents" who aspire to leadership positions in federal, state, or local governments or in the not-for-profit and education sectors where they can influence public policies and change public programs.

Award: $30,000 for graduate study

Number of Awards: 70-75

Deadline: Normally February 7

Website: <http://www.truman.gov>

Morris K. Udall Scholarship

Requirements: Be a matriculated sophomore or junior and be a US citizen or permanent resident alien; OR be a Native American or Alaska Native. Applicants must be studying the environment and related fields; Native American and Alaska Natives must be studying fields related to health care and tribal public policy.

Purpose: The Udall Foundation seeks future leaders across a wide spectrum of environmental fields, including policy, engineering, science, education, urban planning and renewal, business, health, justice, and economics. The Foundation also seeks future Native American and Alaska Native leaders in public and community health care, tribal government, and public policy affecting Native American communities, including land and resource management, economic development, and education. .

Award: $5,000 for tuition, room and board, or other educational expenses.

Number of Awards: 80, typically

Deadline: Early March

Website: <http://www.udall.gov/>

All of the scholarships identified with an asterisk are extremely competitive and each of them requires nomination by the university. All of these scholarships are for study in the United Kingdom or Ireland. Only those students with exceptional records in scholarship, leadership, and service should consider applying.

Directories listing additional grants/fellowships:

“The Annual Register of Grant Support,” published by the National Register Publishing Co. (It is one of the better directories of grants and fellowships)

“The Grants Register,” published by St. Martin’s Press.

Internships, Jobs, and Volunteer Opportunities Overseas:

www. idealist.org.

How to contact the Director, Office of Fellowships and Scholar Programs:

Dr. Barbara Gooden Mulch, Ph.D.

mulch@chapman.edu

714-997-76733