Dr. Kenneth E. Murphy is an Associate Professor of Operations Management. He holds a Ph.D. from Carnegie Mellon University in Operations Research. Dr. Murphy's recent research focuses on governance and management of business process redesign initiatives in global organizations. He has also published in the areas of scheduling and organizational learning. Dr. Murphy has published in Operations Research, Naval Research Logistics, Communications of the ACM and Information Systems Journal.