Survivor Testimony: Sol Liber

He was whipped.

He was used for target practice.

He was pushed into a river without knowing how to swim.

He couldn't take it anymore.

He took action.

Sol Liber suffered through so many hardships that he had no choice but to stand up for himself. Regardless of the consequences, Liber participated in the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising. He threw Molotov cocktails at soldiers and blew up factories. What inspires me is his determination to survive and his persistence and courage.

As Sol Liber said, "The will to live – you'll try everything."
