

ENGAGING THE WORLD LEADING
the conversation on Ethnic Studies

LECTURE SERIES

Cultural Appreciation, Appropriation, or Assimilation?
The Sikh Experience in America

Tuesday, October 11, 2022
7:00 – 8:00 p.m. with reception to follow

Location:

Wallace All Faiths Chapel, Fish Interfaith Center,
Chapman University

Hybrid Option:

<https://chapman.zoom.us/j/92616406467>

Moderated by Dean Gail Stearns, Ph.D.

The stories we read, listen to, and tell influence how we see others, the world, and our place in it. The Sikh community has been the target of numerous hate crimes, but these events only partially define what it means to be a Sikh living in the United States. This conversation will challenge the notion of a single narrative, exploring the nuances of the multifaceted Sikh community and the role of cultural humility in story-telling.

Co-sponsor: Fish Interfaith Center

Special Guests

Manpreet Kalra

Social impact + equity
advisor, anti-racism educator,
writer and podcaster

Vishavjit Singh

TEDx speaker, illustrator,
performance artist,
storyteller, and creator
www.Sikhtoons.com

For more information on the Engaging the World series, scan the QR code or visit the link below

<https://www.chapman.edu/wilkinson/about/events/etw-ethnicstudies.aspx>