

ENGAGING THE WORLD: Leading the Conversation on the Significance of Race

In Recognition of Black History Month

Black Health Care: Past and Present

Wednesday, February 24, 2021
6:00–7:00 p.m. (PST)

Zoom Link: chapman.zoom.us/j/99979978253

Moderator: Dr. Charissa Threat, Associate Professor of History;
Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences

Co-sponsored by Wilkinson College of Arts, Humanities, & Social Sciences, Crean College of Health and Behavioral Sciences

Dr. Tamarra Jones
Health Promotion and Community Planning Division
Manager, Orange County
Healthcare Agency

Dr. Lawrence "LB" Brown
Vice Provost for Academic Administration, Professor of Pharmacoeconomics and Health Policy;
School of Pharmacy

Dr. Emmanuel John
Chair, Department of Physical Therapy; Crean
College of Health &
Behavioral Sciences

Dr. Jason Douglas
Assistant Professor of Public Health, Crean
College of Health and
Behavioral Sciences

Please contact juriley@chapman.edu if you have questions.

For more information on the Engaging the World series, visit our website www.chapman.edu/wilkinson/about/events/engaging-world.aspx